To whom it may concern,

Nedbank have employed the services of Tony Attenborough and Conor Kenny as Lenders' Technical Advisor for the US$127m Seawater Reverse Osmosis Desalination Project in Nungua, Ghana. These services commenced in February 2013 and have continued throughout the construction phase of the project, and into the commencement of commercial operation. The services will continue during the Operating Phase of the project.

Nedbank are completely satisfied with the services provided by Tony Attenborough and Conor Kenny and would recommend them for similar assignments in the future.

Yours Faithfully
